Careers News*SBAT's BRING VOCATIONAL TRAINING TO LIFE!

Many parents don't know just what a 'jump-start' to their careers SBAT's give students in years 10, 11 and 12. SBAT stands for 'School Based Apprenticeship & Traineeships'. Through an SBAT, students set themselves up for the career they want whilst they are completing their HSC. SBAT's combine paid work, training and school. Not only will your student get an industry recognised national qualification, but they also gain credit towards their NSW Higher School Certificate (HSC).

Students can start an SBAT in Year 10 or Year 11 and some training arrangements can contribute towards their Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR). No matter if they are on a pathway to higher Vocational Education and Training, or University post-school, there is an SBAT for them.

Most parents are not aware that SBAT's can provide other benefits to their students in senior high school years too - better student engagement at school, money in their pockets, better school attendance, and a real improvement in their self-esteem. Doing an SBAT does not necessarily mean being disadvantaged in their HSC result either.

Many Apprenticeships and Traineeships these days lead to well-paying careers - often higher paid than University graduates. With a critical shortage in certain trades, your son/daughter (with Trade Qualifications), are in the front seat to secure employment, especially in these challenging economic times.

To find out more information about SBAT's, search the Department of Education website, speak to your Career Adviser, or contact myself at phillip.lamb@det.nsw.edu.au
